PROBLEM STATEMENT

Your goal

Analyze your observations about the user and synthesize them to define the core problems you have identified as a problem statement.

The user _____ needs a way to _do something that addresses their need_ so that _the user benefits directly._

What's a problem statement?

Sam _____ is a _____ busy manager user name   user characteristics

who needs a way to integrate healthy eating habits user need

because he doesn't want to feel like he's on a diet.
                              insight

- ✓ Rajesh is a fresher who needs a job and wants to know the availability in the companies for his skills because he wants to be independent.
- ✓ Nisha is UI/UX designer who really wants to switch her career in other techy field so that she can gain knowledge in different domain.
- ✓ Kabi is a senior analyst in specific organization needs a another a high paying job because he has a better skill in this domain with low pay.
- ✓ Akash is not okay with his organization so he wants to switch organization so that he can love his work and also can learn new things in other firm.
- ✓ Dharshini is a full stack developer who lost her job because of layoff so she wants to find a new job.

Question	Description
Who does the problem affect?	Persons who are searching for a new job.
What is the issue?	When he/she have no jobs or not okay with current job.
When does the issue occur?	While looking for job.
Where is the issue occurring?	Issue occurs when there is lot of unemployment.
Why is it important that we fix the problem?	To place the skilled employee in respected field.